

MATILDA

EFFECT

Pionierinnen der Forschung Female Pioneers of Research

Pt. 11:
Anna J. Cooper

Anna Julia Cooper (1858-1964)

Author, educator, sociologist and human rights activist

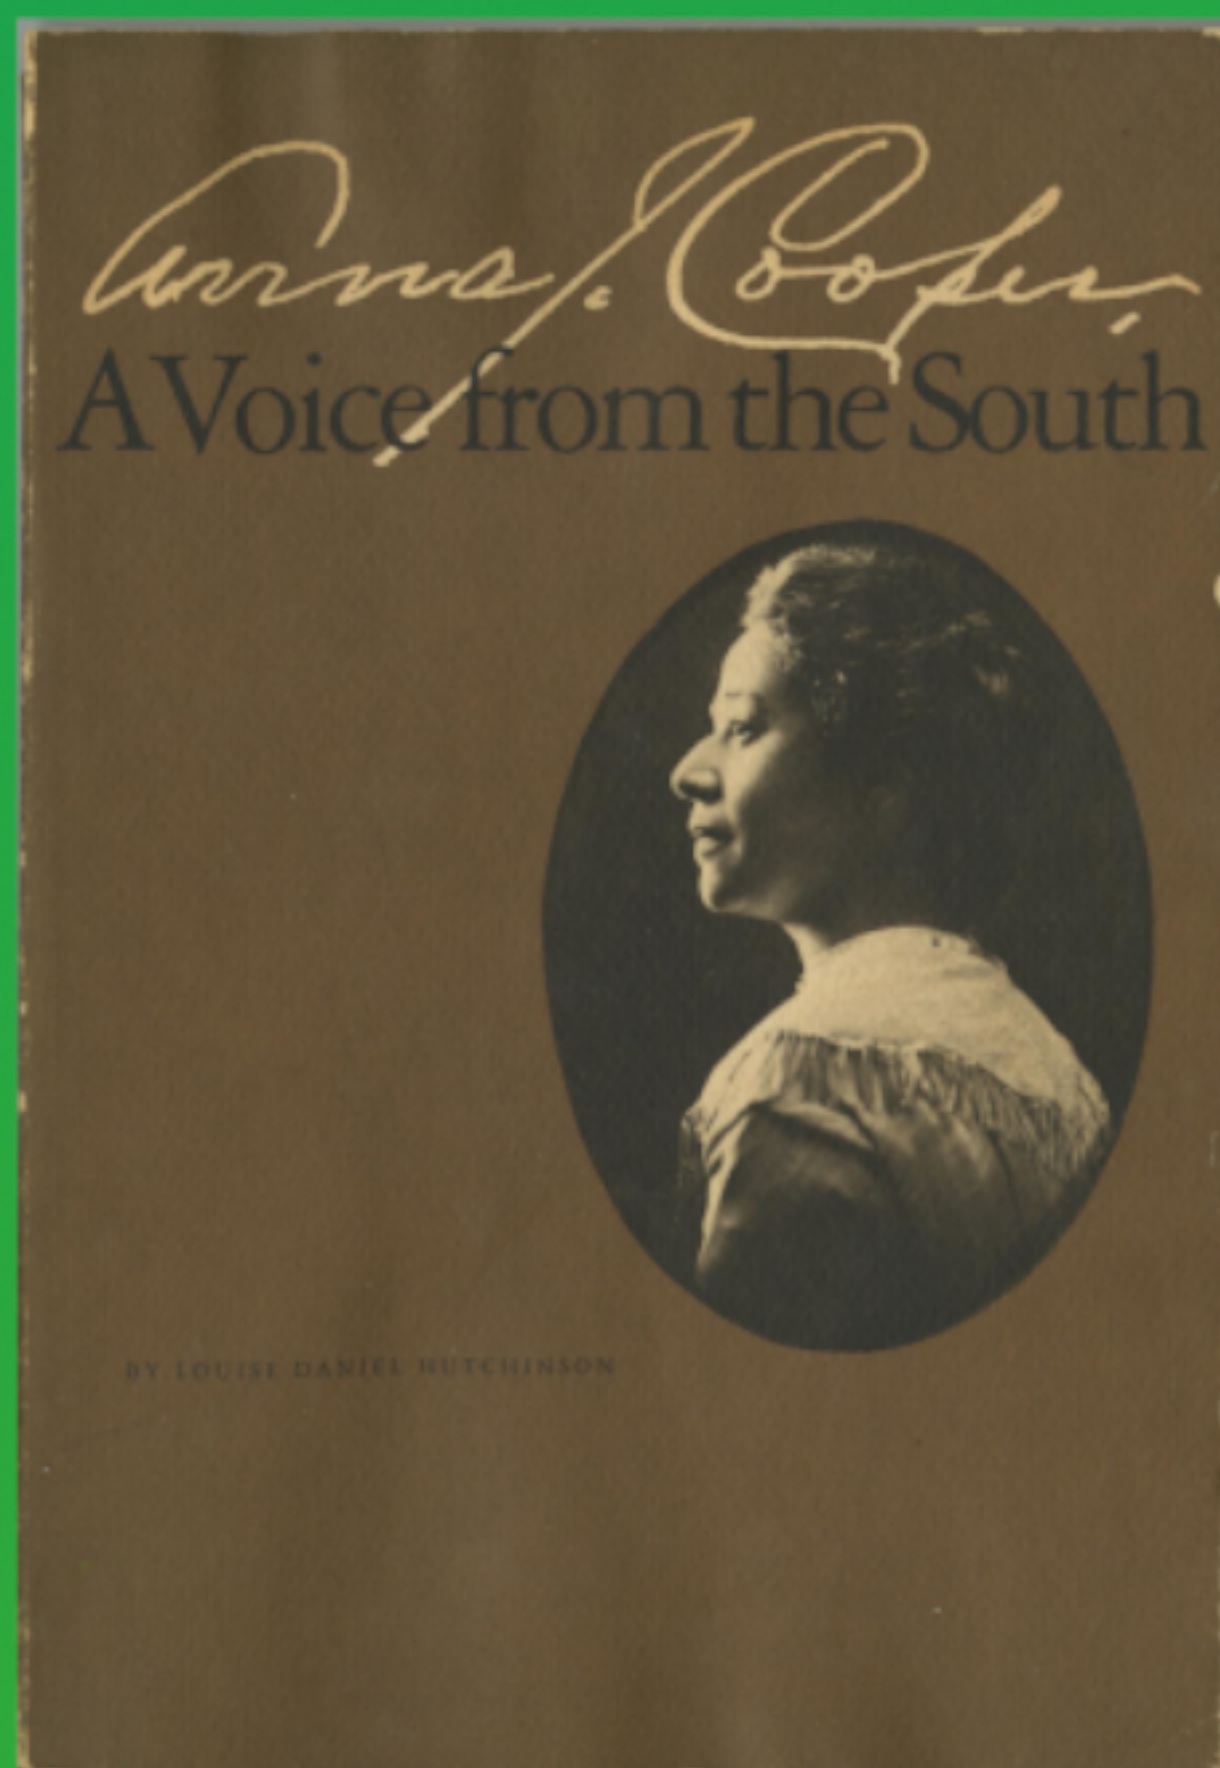

Born into slavery, she soon recognized the importance of women's education and the injustices of the education system.

At Oberlin College in Ohio, she earned her master's degree.

In 1925, she earned her doctorate as one of the first African American women at the Sorbonne in Paris.

In addition to her work as the principal of several schools, she published her book "A Voice from the South: By a Black Woman of the South." It is considered one of the first works of Black feminism.

Anna Julia Cooper left a lasting legacy as a pioneer for the rights and education of African Americans and women. She died in 1964 at the age of 105.

„Let our girls feel that we expect something more of them than that they merely look pretty and appear well in society.“

„Peace produced by suppression is neither natural nor desirable.“

